CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1927.

BOOST SALARIES AND GAS TAX; THEN ADJOURN

Farm and home owners, as well as manufacturers, utility companies and insurance companies will have occasion to long remember the present legislature as one of the most costly in the history of the state.

Automobile owners will pick out members of the legislative body as the ones that placed an extra cent tax on gasoline per gallon, and at the same time voted salaries for judges that will reach $10,000 and $12,000 a year. With one breath the legislature excused the extra tax as a necessity and with the next shouted its self defense to boost judges' salaries.

There will be excuses offered. It matters not what they are—the public is to pay and pay dearly for the frolic the members have staged. There was no more business represented in the management of the law making body than had the Russian Reds been in control.

The only thing the public can be thankful for is that adjournment has been taken and the "law-makers" are at home to offer the usual excuses as to things being so and so.

In the closing session open threats were made that votes were sold in the Senate and no one denied that trading was a past time to get any kind of a deal over the lobby wanted. Members were not traded singly but by the dozens in groups, as complete was the third house in control.

A state tax levy of six-tenths of a mill was placed against all property in Ohio, the first to be collected next December. Both political parties were pledged to oppose such a tax.

More jobs for the politicians were given to the legislature than to the state. Each member seemed to be out to the other in trying to find something new to tax and then how to spend the money.

The various forms of taxes have been put on you and its up to you to dig down and pay the bill. Living within the income, a policy that has never yet proved useful, had no place in the minds of the legislators, a very large per cent of whom pay little or no tax.

M. E. Thankoffering Service Sunday

Special Thank offering services are to be observed at the M. E. church on Sabbath morning for the Women's Missionary Society. Special music has been arranged and the sermon will be delivered by Rev. Ingmire. The members of the society are requested to sit in a body for the service.

NOTED EDUCATOR WILL ADDRESS KENIA CLASS

Edmund Vance Cook, Cleveland, a noted author and lecturer, will deliver the commencement address at the graduation exercises for the senior class of Central High School at the First M. E. church, June 7th.

Mr. Harry Tarbox, formerly a citizen of this place, but for many years a resident of Findlay, was in town a short time yesterday on business. Mr. Tarbox and Mr. Elmer McCall have been engaged in the stone business for a number of years and have made quite a success of it.

It looks natural to see Judge Marcus Shoup on the street in Kenia once more after his operation. The Judge says he has gained 13 pounds and has all the appetite necessary for one man. He will not resume the practice of law for a few weeks yet.

CUSTOMERS GATHER FOR 1-CENT SALE

Prowant and Brown, local druggists, in our last issue, announced the semi-annual "One Cent Sale" that has been made famous over the country by Rexall Drugstores. A feature of the large advertisement in that issue was the absence of the date of the opening and closing of the sale. The sale had been scheduled for this week and the ad last week was the preliminary announcement.

The public not aware of the date for the sale, naturally thought the sale was on last week and the situation was embarrassing to Mr. Brown, who had to explain that the sale was scheduled for this week instead of last. Mr. Brown tells us that more than 100 people came into the store Saturday asking for articles in the "One Cent Sale."

This testimony of course reflects two things. One that the Herald provided the drawing power and also that our readers read the store news of our advertisers.

The "One Cent Sale" is in full swing this week, but closes Saturday night.

Grocers Organize Under New Plan

Beaver & Co., Xenia, have a new plan of organizing independent grocery stores to meet the chain store grocery system that has spread over the country. A meeting was held recently in Xenia when a number of local grocers heard the plan explained. The idea is for organization so that wholesale buying can be done on a larger scale.

The stores are to adopt a system of handling goods somewhat different than what has been in use for many years. Store fronts are painted to conform to adopted colors for all the stores that enter this organization.

So far but one store, M. C. Nagley, has announced connection with the new organization. Mr. Nagley has redecorated the interior of his store and painted the front in white with blue trimmings.

In some towns and cities chain stores have captured a large per cent of the grocery business. To offset this independent stores have organized under the name of "Community Grocers" and group orders to get better prices and advertise under one name. This system has proven very satisfactory in many localities. Competition in the grocery field is very keen all over the country.

CORN BORER FIGHT UPSETS FARMERS

If there is anyone subject on which farmers are anymore at sea than the "Farm Relief" movement, it is the "Corn Borer" problem. In meeting farmers and hearing discussions we get all kinds of opinions, some very much concerned, others indifferent and quite a few who have no faith in the scare at this time. Some in this vicinity say there are conditions in this county that are as dangerous as the corn borer. More than one has mentioned the spread of wild mustard and the damage it does to crops. It is claimed it cannot be killed out by cultivation and that the root does not winter kill. The seed is easily carried in any direction. The only known remedy at present is pulling the weed out by hand carefully following a big

"One prominent farmer says in his opinion the low grade clover seed on the market is costing the farmers in Ohio more in the way of damage than the corn borer. So far as known the corn borer has not yet shown itself in this section to any extent.

The northern part of Ohio is said to have the corn borer but from the way farmers and farm organizations are protesting from that section of the state in the fight against the corn borer, one is inclined to believe the situation is not so bad as pictured.

Tuesday 1,500 farmers organized at a meeting in Tiffin, O., and made plans to oppose the federal and state government in the manner in which crops were being destroyed by the corn borer. A protest was sent to President Coolidge and to state officials and the farmers in that section seem to have all of the corn borer fight they want. The cure seems to be worse than the disease.

The federal government appropriated about $10,000,000 and the state $200,000 to put up this fight. The campaign gave hundreds of men jobs and certain companies have furnished tractors, oil burners, automobiles and trucks that cost into the millions.

One thing is certain farmers are not a unit on the corn borer fight. It is past time to protest. The law is in effect, whether it is a good or a bad law for the farmer.

It would be an interesting sight to see an army of men along the Canadian line with nets trying to catch the moths that we are told fly over and lay the eggs that hatch the corn borer. One of our well known farmers made that comment a few days ago.

Dr. Nancy Finney of Oxford spent the week-end with her mother.

Dr. and Mrs. W. R. McChesney gave a reception last evening to the members of the faculty of the College as well as to the students.

Straw Hat Now Comes To Front

Fashion has decreed that Friday, May 13, today, is the unlucky day for felt hats and that all such must be relegated to the attic or the ash heap.

Today is "Straw Hat Day" if the fashion edict is to be observed. If the weather man is right we are to have it clear and warmer but just how warm it is to be another question. At this time overcoats are much in demand with a poor chance of the straw hat even seeing its shadow.

P. church, Xenia, by the Rev. H. B. McBires. The ceremony was performed at 10:30 and the couple was accompanied by the bride's mother, Mrs. Alex McCorman and Miss Edna Selfert.

Mr. and Mrs. Ensign left Saturday for a short trip and on their return will make their home on the Kyle farm. Both are known over the county and are receiving congratulation of a large circle of friends.

Juniors Banquet H. S. School Friday

Rev. C. E. Taylor, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, Dayton, gave the address at the Junior-Senior High School reception at the First U. P. church in Xenia on Friday evening. He spoke on "Duties in Education" and his address was highly appreciated. About 100 were present.

Music was furnished by an orchestra from the county and the orchestra under the leadership of W. R. Sayres. The address of welcome was made by Esther Mae Hagaman, Cedarville, for the Juniors, and the response was by Annabelle Buckner, Jefferson Township, for the Seniors. Miss Lellie Fudge of Jamestown gave a toast representing the Juniors of the different schools.

At the banquet different boards of education were present. The different boards of education were present at the banquet.

Board Member Has Shown Up

Governor Dore has named two new members of the O. S. & S. O. Home Board but one has yet put in his appearance. W. T. Amos, Sidney, met with the board Saturday for the first time.

Judge Prugh, Columbus, has not attended a meeting although he was appointed two months ago. It is said Judge Prugh is in sympathy with the policy of the board transacting all business on the Sabbath day. It has been the practice of the present board to inspect the police, pay bills and let contracts on the Sabbath day and to this Judge Prugh is much opposed.

Karl Keller, Xenia, has been bound over to the grand jury on a charge of assault. Mayor Prugh, Xenia, last night charged Keller with assault on Sunday night at the entrance to Greene county fairgrounds. Keller is a son of Karl Keller, Sr., Greene county game protector.

STATE TRAIN GOING SOON

An agricultural train emphasizing round worm control is coming this way soon. Paul G. Hurley, Agricultural Agent for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Paul Gerlaugh of the Extension Service of the Ohio State University were in conference with County Agent Kimber relative to the Swine Sanitation Special which will spend the forenoon (or afternoon) of Saturday, June 11th in Jamestown.

The Extension Service has been emphasizing round worm control in some of the counties of southwestern Ohio for four years. The success of the farmers in this extension project has prompted the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to run this special train to assist the farmers in their territory to increase the profits of their hog business. If the farmer has more money to spend the railroad will profit by this situation. The farmer has more money to spend, the railroad tickets to take the family to Washington, D. C., or they may decide to buy a new dining suit which would be shipped to their dealer thus making increased freight receipts.

"Anything that makes for a more prosperous community" says Mr. Hurley, "makes for a more prosperous railroad."

The University will be interested in getting the information relative to swine sanitation in general use by hog growers because the men who have followed these suggestions say their hogs have made them more money when these practices have been followed.

The Swine Sanitation train will carry material and information on internal parasites, emphasizing the common round worm and will also show the preferable protein feeds to use with corn in feeding hogs.

Assisting the Railroad and the University will be a representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Experiment Station is assisting in supplying material on feeding.

GAS COMPANY GETS NEW RATE FROM COUNCIL

Council met Monday evening when the ordinance was passed giving the Dayton Power & Light Company a franchise for twenty-five years. The franchise has nothing to do with the rates of electricity as they are governed by a separate ordinance.

Council also granted the Ohio Fuel Gas Company a new rate as asked for the week previous. There is not much different than the old one and is the same as the one granted by the City Commission in Xenia.

Both ordinances were presented to council a week ago but after the first reading were submitted to Solicitor Harry D. Smith, who approved each of them.

The new gas rate will be $1.00 for the first 500 cubic feet or less, or none over 500 feet. Where bills are not paid by the tenth of the month 5 cents per thousand is added as a penalty.

College Defeats Antioch Team

The College Yellow Jackets had no trouble taking baseball honors from Antioch here last Saturday, the score being 7 to 2.

Turner was the mound for Cedarville and had no trouble in keeping the Antiochians just where he wanted them. He allowed them but seven hits. Eberth and Farley pitched for the visitors.

Kumler kept McLean from scoring a three bagger for the locals when he ran nearly to the back field fence and caught a ball over his shoulder. Cedarville has now won two and lost two and plays the next game at Yellow Springs, May 28.

Songs of Plain Folks

Any Mail for Me? James Lewis Hays

We'll soon reach the crossing
And if old Daddy Lee
Doesn't limp up and quaver
"Hill Any mail for me?"
I'll know something's happened
For he never does fail
Though he just keeps hoping
Never getting real mail.

I bring Dad a pamphlet,
An automobile "ad",
A seed house catalog,
And he looks sort of sad;
Yet the next day, certain,
He's as happy as can be
And his voice rings hopeful,
Asking "Any mail for me?"

I'm old in the service
Of the Mails and I've found
Hope keeps people happy
And a man's never downed
While he still writes letters,
Still believes that he will see
Success, and still comes asking
"Is there any mail for me?"

SPIRITED CONTEST OVER HAINES

The contest for and against the appointment of Major Haines as prohibition commissioner under the new law passed by Congress a few weeks ago is attracting much interest, not only between the wets and the dries but we find a division of the latter. Haines has held a prominent place in the enforcement bureau since his appointment by President Harding. His part as an executive officer proved weak and Major Andrews was placed over him. With the new law in force another must be placed at the helm and Secretary of Treasury, Andrew Mellon, has the appointment.

The Anti Saloon League is backing Haines. So do Senators S. D. Fess and Frank B. Willis. Opposed to Haines is Clarence True Wilson, and the Methodist Temperance Board with headquarters in Washington. According to Senator Fess it does not look favorable for Haines, although he has come to his support. It is probable that the Rev. Wilson is acting with greater sincerity in this matter than are the leaders of the Anti Saloon League, which has degenerated largely to a purely selfish political organization, continually reaching out after patronage and controlling appointments. The Methodist Board is not in politics and it must be taken for granted that this board is deeply interested in the success of prohibition as matter of moral principle. Many temperance people have lost all faith in the Anti Saloon League and no longer give it moral or financial support.

There is no question but that the Anti Saloon League is in direct or indirect collusion with the utility interests of the country. It seems to make no difference with the League what a member of a state legislature or congress represents, so long as he agrees to vote dry. People can be denied their constitutional rights in relation to public service corporations and be robbed by high and excessive rates. On this basis to get "reform" measures the public must submit to extortionate rates and say nothing.

The utility companies are well aware of the temperment of the people on moral issues, especially prohibition. To be able to control legislation, particularly the senate, candidates are picked out that will be acceptable to the Anti Saloon League, and the lobbyist, who must be an adept politician, puts up the sinews of war and secures the election of the utility candidate. The League can safely say that it has no interest in the utility question but the League leaders know that this situation exists and that it is not approved by temperance people who are the utility victims.

The American Issue a couple of weeks ago made reference to liquor being served for the Desher hotel celebration in Columbus but the issue or the League never uttered a public protest against the liquor party at the same hotel two years ago when utility lobbyists entertained dry senators and celebrated over the defeat the Ohio Senate handed Governor Donahey in rejecting his nominations to reorganize the corrupt utility commission that was in power. There was liquor in abundance at that gathering and even those accused of being present never offered a denial. The American Issue should have been as much shocked of the one event as the other.

The indifference that exists over the problem of law enforcement can be attributed largely to the League policy. The public is not asleep by any means but is not looking to the Anti Saloon politicians for hope of the future. Thousands of temperance automobile owners have been hauled into the commercial courts of Ohio and paid their tribute to grafting officials and continue to spread the gospel that law enforcement in such courts is but a mockery and a place wherein graft can be legally collected. The United States Supreme Court has once hit this sort of thing and the new method of graft for constables and justices, as well as curbstone lawyers, will be tumbled over as sure as it reaches Chief Justice Taft.

THE PUBLIC WILL CONTROL THE SCHOOLS

The ambush or gorilla war-fare campaign being waged in this county to break down the faith of the public in the public schools will not succeed. There is no one organization in this county big enough or strong enough in numbers to control the public schools. The public schools belong to the public and as well as we know the temperament of the people, we have no fear of the great majority being swept off their feet.

If anything irregular or improper has happened or is as yet taking place, on the part of any board, any superintendent, or any teacher, the laws of the state provide a remedy. If criminal acts have been committed, the grand jury is the place for such a case. No school board has any authority to conduct investigations of that nature, nor can any board compel anyone to testify in such a case. The proper courts have these powers and if such a situation exists that demands attention, those having proper evidence are not doing their duty unless this information is put in the hands of the prosecuting attorney.

No one should be shielded that has been guilty of any wrong doing. The courts were established to care for such matters as are complained about by the author of a recent letter circulated over the county. The physician and Mason who has information can appear in court and tell his story. Just so with any other person who has complaint. A number of years ago a case from about Osborn caused a stir in school circles in the county. But the case was heard in open court and not by charges in a circular quoting from one who has up to this time not seen fit to make his name public.

As we see it the County Board of Education is without jurisdiction in this case. Once the courts have determined the innocence or guilt, then it falls on the board to take action. It is certain that nothing can be accomplished by circulars cast about at night intimating that things are not as they should be in the county schools. The county board knows its legal status and there is no organization that can shift a responsibility on it. The doors of the grand jury room are open. Those who are interested in the midnight campaign that has been staged should have no hesitancy in walking in in broad day-light and laying their information before the properly constituted body.

The weakness of what has been done thus far, is only an admittance from the viewpoint of the public, that proving guilt it not the object. This unnamed physician and Mason on the witness stand is the one thing for which the public awaits. No make-shift campaign can be manufactured to turn the public schools of this county over to those who measure their patriotism and Americanism in the terms of per cent.

Under the indigent debtors law, four men were given their release from the county jail by Probate Judge S. C. Wright, Tuesday. They were insolvents and were serving liquor fines. They were Fred Harris, 24; Ben Lewis, 43; Agnew White, 26, and Earl Cline, 24.

Russell Pence, 17, Xenia, is in the custody of the juvenile court on a charge of stealing automobile accessories from a car at Bakertown, on the Columbus pike, west of town. It is said that Lewis Burbe, Cedarville, suggested that the car be stripped and the parts be taken to Xenia and sold and a division of the profit made. Police recovered two tires and several innertubes. Burbe denies the story related by the boys.

Shopping, A Symbol of Civilization

No one ever told the little woman hurrying along Main Street with her shopping bag under her arm, that she carries what nations have fought to uphold, down throughout the ages—the torch of civilization.

What does her swinging basket hold—curtains to beautify her home, shoes to safeguard tiny, stumbling toes, sheets to make the beds of her family soft and restful. Just everyday things—now, yes—but luxuries denied all but a king a thousand years ago.

The J. C. Penney Company with its nation-wide organization of 773 stores is but a regiment in that vast merchandise army, struggling to bring goods from where they are to where they are needed with the greatest possible economy of time, effort and money. Every salesman is but one more soldier in the fight, that has been waged for centuries, to make easy the path of those hurrying feet. He is doing his bit to uphold the standards of civilization.
